

Instructions for Using the Ochsner Medical Library Print Holdings Catalog

Our catalog may be used to search our collection of print books that are available for check-out. It does contain some materials which can be used in the Medical Library but not available for borrowing.

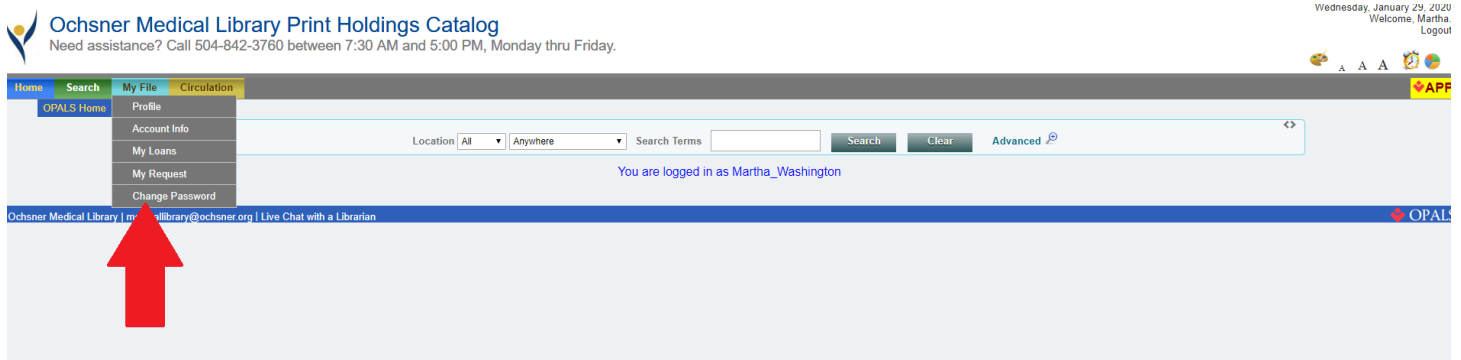

The catalog offers a simple search, an advanced search, and ability browse by subject or author to learn the print books and other materials available for check-out.

After registering an account, it is important to sign in each time use are using the catalog. To log in, go to the upper right corner and click Login. Then enter your username and password.

When you are logged into your account, you can view account details such as which books you have checked out or the status of your hold requests. You may also change your password. If you want to change your username, contact the Medical Library.

When logged in, you can place a request for a book to be held for you. It will be pulled from the stacks and held for you in the Medical Library to check-out.

You can view the books you have already checked out by selecting “My Loans.” You can also renew items from here. Please be aware that a renewal depends on whether there is another request for this same book from another patron.
